A FASCINATING INSIGHT INTO THE WORLD OF GLOBAL POLITICS

This fascinating look at global politics follows New Zealand's fourth term as a nonpermanent member of the United Nations Security Council, from 2015 to 2016.

Its engrossing chapters by key players, from the then Minister for Foreign Affairs Murray McCully to the two-term New Zealand President of the Security Council Gerard van Bohemen, offer real insights into the Council's day-to-day workings.

This book examines New Zealand's efforts to improve Council processes, and asks: Given the dominance of the P5 — the United States, China, Russia, France and the United Kingdom— is there a role on the Security Council for smaller nations? And can they effect meaningful change for those suffering in war-torn and corrupt countries?

ABOUT THE EDITORS

Professor Graham Hassall is Associate Professor, Public Policy and Administration, at the School of Government at Victoria University. He has participated in a range of academic, professional and policy networks and currently serves on the advisory board of the Commonwealth Journal of Local Governance, and the New Zealand Centre for Global Studies. He was President of the United Nations Association of New Zealand 2012–16.

Dr Negar Partow is Senior Lecturer in Security Studies at the Centre for Defence and Security Studies at Massey University, Wellington. Her areas of expertise include international security, Middle East and Southeast Asia, gender studies and body politics, human security and human rights. She is a regular media commentator and an enthusiastic human rights activist.

SALES POINTS

- An insight into the day-to-day workings of the United Nations Security Council and how decisions are made about the world's most horrific and protracted conflicts.
- Written by the people who were there, it provides personal perspectives on the at times opaque workings of the UNSC
- Promotes a better understanding of New Zealand's diplomatic tradecraft at the UN and beyond
- Asks key questions: Does the UNSC have a role in global security today? Can small countries have any influence in the UN? What is the role of the temporary members of the UNSC — and can they achieve anything?
